

HE LIKES GAINESVILLE.

Extensive Naval Stores Operator of Juliette May Reside Here.

S. M. Davis, an extensive and successful naval stores operator of Juliette—in fact, one of the most extensive operators in the State—returned to his home Wednesday, after a couple of days spent here as the guest of Captain J. M. Dell.

Mr. Davis is well pleased with Gainesville. He has a large and interesting family, and in looking for a refined, Christian city in which to educate his children, has about decided to locate here, in the event he can purchase a suitable home. He will be gladly welcomed, with the assurance that he could not have made a more appropriate selection.

In speaking of his business, Mr. Davis stated that he was operating twenty-five "crops," which means 250,000 boxes. He expects to make this year 1,000 barrels of spirits and 3,000 barrels of resin. He employs a large number of hands.

Entertainments of Merit.

It is often a question with those desiring instruction and education as to what is proper in the manner and form of entertainment.

The Passion Play stands unequalled as a presentation that appeals to all classes and is suitable and acceptable at all times. Presenting as it does historical and biblical facts, added to which the life-like animation of the moving pictures, more than interests and pleases those that are fortunate enough to be able to see this great reproduction of the wonderful sacred drama of Oberammergau, Bavaria.

The Passion Play has created more interest than any other attraction ever known to the civilized world.

It has attracted thousands of people to Europe, and the only way to see this beautiful Story of the Cross, short of a visit to Oberammergau, is to see the moving pictures and hear the grand descriptive lecture Friday evening at the opera house, for the benefit of the Athletic Association of the East Florida Seminary.

Invaluable for Rheumatism.

I have been suffering for the past few years with a severe attack of rheumatism and found that Ballard's Snow Liniment was the only thing that gave me satisfaction and tended to alleviate my pains. March 24th, 1902, John C. Degnan, Kinsman, Ill. 25c, 50c and $1. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Captured a Gold Bug.

There is no further doubt, if a doubt ever existed, but that Dr. J. L. Kelley, Superintendent of Public Instruction for Alachua county, is "down" on the gold bugs, for he has just captured and imprisoned a gold bug which he found on his premises.

The Doctor discovered a day or two ago on a rosebush in his yard a very peculiar specimen of a bug, but, Chamellion-like, it has the faculty of changing colors. In the early morning the bug is a bright gold, at noon its color turns to a light green, and as the day advances and the shades of night come, it has changed again to gold. The bug is in possession of Dr. Kelley at his office, and was examined Monday and Tuesday by a score who pronounced it a curiosity. The Doctor thinks seriously of sending it to the national museum at Washington.

THE CITY OF CROCODILES.

An Ancient Site Said to Have Been Built by Pharaoh.

The crocodile, one of the most sacred animals of the east, has given its name to several ancient sites. Of the various "cities of crocodiles," the names of which have been handed down to us by Herodotus, Pliny and Strabo, perhaps the most striking was the "Crocodilopolis" of the ancient Egyptian province of Fayum, which, according to tradition, was built by that pharaoh who "made the lives of the children of Israel bitter with hard service."

This province lies within an almost complete circle of hills—a little oasis in the midst of the desert, where roses and grapes mingle with figs and olives and luxuriant palm trees grow almost into forests.

Its capital is Medinet, and a little to the north of the city are a number of irregularly shaped mounds. Beneath these are the ruins of the pharaoh built "Crocodilopolis," the "City of Crocodiles," later called Arsinoe, and the shrine of the sacred crocodile of the neighboring Lake Moeris, which was then 450 miles in circumference.

This lake held the sacred crocodiles, and as each died in turn it was buried in one of the 1,500 underground sepulchers of the world famed "Labyrinth" at hand, side by side with the embalmed bodies of successive pharaohs.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE NAME AMERICA.

When It Was First Proposed For the Newly Found Continent.

The name of America for the newly discovered continent was first proposed in the little volume put forth at St. Die, in the Vosges, in the year 1507 by Waldseemüller, better known by the Hellenized form of his name, Hylandus. Three or four editions of this treatise were published at St. Die before 1507, and a few years afterward an edition without date was printed at Lyons by Jean de la Place. All these editions are of extreme rarity, and probably that printed at Lyons is the rarest of all, though the library of the British museum possesses two copies of it. It has never been suggested that any maps were engraved to accompany either of the editions, but it has always been supposed that the earliest map with the word "America" marked on the new found world was the "Typus Orbis," engraved on wood for the "Enchiridion Joannis Camertis in C. Julii Solini Polyhistora," printed at Vienna in 1520 for Joannes Singrenius. In this map the new world is represented as a long island, on which is the inscription: "Anno d. 1497 hanc terra cum adjacentibus insulis inventa est per Columbum Inauensem ex mandato regis Castellae. America provincia."

The Colonel's Waterloo.

Col. John M. Fuller of Honey Grove, Texas, nearly met his Waterloo from liver and kidney trouble. In a recent letter he says: "I was nearly dead of these complaints, and although I tried my family doctor he did me no good; so I got a 50c bottle of your great Electric Bitters, which cured me. I consider them the best medicine on earth, and thank God who gave you the knowledge to make them." Sold and guaranteed to cure dyspepsia, biliousness and kidney disease by all druggists, at 50c a bottle.

BRET HARTE AS A HUNTER.

The Reassuring Message He Received After an Accident.

During the time he acted as United States consul in Glasgow Bret Harte occasionally indulged in a day's sport with the gun, and it was during one of his shooting excursions that the famous American author met with an accident which might have disfigured him for the remainder of his life, his face being badly cut through the recoil of an overloaded gun. Fortunately the doctor's skill prevented him from being permanently marked.

Writing about the occurrence to his friend, T. Edgar Pemberton, (who quotes the letter in his "Tribute to Bret Harte"), the novelist concludes his letter by telling of an amusing effort which was made to console him on account of the accident.

"When the surgeon was stitching me together," he wrote, "the son of the house, a boy of twelve, came timidly to the door of my room:

"Tell Mr. Bret Harte it's all right," he said. 'He killed the hare.'"

For an Impaired Appetite.

Loss of appetite always results from faulty digestion. All that is needed is a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They will invigorate the stomach, strengthen the digestion and give you an appetite like a wolf. These tablets also act as a gentle laxative. For sale by all druggists.

Artificial Flowers.

It was in Italy that a demand for artificial flowers first arose. This was due primarily to a caprice of fashion which demanded that during festivals blossoms in and out of their seasons should be worn and also to the fact that their color and freshness were stable. Later on, in the middle ages, the artificial so far superseded the natural that both men and women decked their heads with imitation flowers of cambric, paper, glass and metal. The best artificial flowers are now made in Paris.

How to Succeed.

Believe in yourself, believe in humanity, believe in the success of your undertakings. Fear nothing and no one. Love your work. Work, hope, trust. Keep in touch with today. Teach yourself to be practical and up to date and sensible. You cannot fail.

You Get Up

In the morning tired, languid, and frequently with a headache that is almost unbearable. You have been nervous, restless and sleepless night after night, and gloomy and irritable during the day. This nervous exhaustion affects the heart, lungs and other organs that depend upon the nerves for motive power. Then the stomach fails to digest the food; the heart action is weak, and circulation poor, and the kidneys and liver inactive.

What you need is not a stomach, head, kidney or liver medicine, but Dr. Miles' Nervine to soothe and feed the nerves and build nerve tissue.

"My wife was subject to severe mental strain, which resulted in nervous prostration. The first symptoms were uncontrollable crying and melancholy spells, which increased to such an extent that for over a year she would have a spell every day of from four to six hours duration. She required the constant attention of her physician and attendants. She suffered great pain and anguish. The best physicians attending her could give no relief, and she finally became almost of unsound mind. As a last resort I began giving her Dr. Miles' Nervine, and to my surprise and joy, after a few days she was not so severe, and they gradually disappeared altogether. She has had no recurrence of the spells, and is gaining in health and strength."

J. P. OVERHOLSER, Sterling, Ill.
Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.
